UNITED STATES PATENT OFFICE.

CHARLES G. SHEPARD AND PETER ADAMS, JR., OF BUFFALO, NEW YORK;
SAID ADAMS ASSIGNOR TO WALTER J. SHEPARD, OF SAME PLACE.

DESIGN FOR A TOY SAVINGS-BANK.

SPECIFICATION forming part of Design No. 12,814, dated March 14, 1882.

Application filed February 4, 1882. Term of patent 7 years.

To all whom it may concern:

Be it known that we, CHARLES G. SHEPARD and PETER ADAMS, Jr., of the city of Buffalo, in the county of Erie and State of New York, have invented and produced a new and original Design for Toy Savings-Banks, of which the following is a specification, reference being had to the accompanying drawing, forming part thereof.

This invention relates to a design for a toy savings-bank which has the form of the head and upper portion of a human body, and which is provided with an open mouth, through which the coins are introduced into the interior or cavity of the figure.

The accompanying drawing represents a perspective view of our newly-designed toy bank.

The upper portion, A, of the figure represents the head of a negro whose mouth is wide open, the open mouth being designed for the introduction of the coins into the interior of the figure. The lower portion, B, represents the upper portion or breast of the negro. The left arm C hangs down by the side of the body, while the right arm D is bent, and holds in its hand a dish, E, which is adapted to receive the coins, in a position as if it were about to be carried to the mouth of the figure. The latter is composed of two or more parts, constructed of cast-iron or other suitable material and properly secured together.

We claim as our invention—

1. The design for a toy bank, consisting of a figure representing the head and upper portion of the body of a negro, substantially as shown and described.

2. The design for a toy bank, consisting of a figure representing the head and upper portion of the body of a negro having its mouth open and one arm bent in a position which conveys the impression that the hand is about to be carried to the mouth, substantially as shown and described.
